

Treasury Department,

BUREAU OF THE MINT,

Washington, D. C., November 8th, 1887.

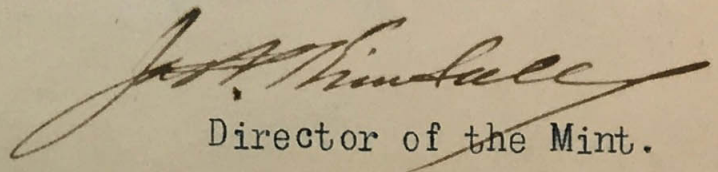

Hon. Daniel M. Fox,
Superintendent, U.S. Mint,
Philadelphia, Pa.

Sir:

Referring to the communication from your Coiner relative to the deviation in weight of silver planchets, enclosed in your letter of the 4th instant, you will please request the Coiner to explain the portions on page 4 marked with a note of interrogation. What I desire to know is whether the figures represent actual weights or deviations, and what the unit is.

The letter of the Coiner is herewith enclosed, and you will please return it with his explanation by return mail if possible.

Respectfully yours,

Director of the Mint.

1535

Treasury Dept.
Washington D.C..
Nov. 8. 1887

James P. Kimball.
Director.

Relative to communication from Coomer as to deviation in weight of Silver Planchets, says,
to explain the portions on page 4 marked with a note of interrogation.

[Abstract:] Relative to communication from Coiner as to deviation in weight...

E.O.L.

Treasury Department,
Bureau of the Mint,
Washington, D.C.,
November 8, 1887

Hon. Daniel M. Fox,
Superintendent, U.S. Mint,
Philadelphia, Pa.

Sir:

Referring to the communication from your Coiner relative to the deviation in weight of silver planchets, enclosed in your letter of the 4th instant, you will please request the Coiner to explain the portions on page 4 marked with a note of interrogation. What I desire to know is whether the figures represent actual weights or deviations, and what the unit is.

The letter of the Coiner is herewith enclosed, and you will please return it with his explanation by return mail if possible.

Respectfully yours,
James P. Kimball
Director of the Mint.